A Night of Miracles: Intuitive Psychologist to Visit Fairless Hills Barnes & Noble

Susan Apollon, author of Touched by the Extraordinary, will host a book signing and audience discussion on September 15.

Fairless Hills, PA (August 2005)—Looking for a unique and inspiring way to spend an evening? On September 15 at 7:30 p.m., Susan Apollon will appear at the Barnes & Noble bookstore at 210 Commerce Boulevard. She will sign copies of her new book—Touched by the Extraordinary: An Intuitive Psychologist Shares Insights, Lessons, and True Stories of Spirit and Love to Transform and Heal the Soul—and host an informal presentation/audience discussion on a fascinating topic . . . miracles.

Conversation will center on real-life miracles the author and her interview subjects have experienced, as well as on the wealth of research that points to the existence of the nonlocal mind. Questions she anticipates answering include:

- ✓What are miracles, really?
- ✓What is our role in making miracles happen?
- ✓How can we use miracles and other extraordinary events to overcome grief?
- ✓What is synchronicity and how can we recognize it in our own lives?
- ✓How much do we know about the nature of death?

Apollon is a psychotherapist, intuitive psychologist, and healer who treats children and adults who are traumatized, diagnosed with cancer or other life-threatening illnesses, dealing with death and dying, or grieving. Coming from a family of physicians, her intent is to heal (emotionally, mentally, physically, and spiritually), but at the level of the soul—and always with love and compassion. She has been in private practice in Yardley, PA, since 1991.

Her book, Touched by the Extraordinary, compiles and analyzes much research done on metaphysical subjects, offers story after story of real-life extraordinary experiences, and advises readers on how to expand their own intuitive gifts.

“What I like most about my work is that, sometimes, I share insights and revelations that give people a sense of hope and joy,” says Apollon. “I think we’re all hungry for that, even diehard skeptics. Especially diehard skeptics. My overarching message is that life itself is extraordinary. And all it takes to realize that is to open your eyes and see the amazing things that surround us all, every day.”

About the Author:

For close to twenty years, Susan Apollon has worked as a psychotherapist, psychologist, and healer, treating children and adults who are traumatized, diagnosed with cancer or other life-threatening illnesses, dealing with death and dying, and those who are grieving. She brings to her patients a gentle blend of warmth, compassion, and wisdom gained from surviving her own illnesses and losses; her expertise and training as a wife, mom, teacher, psychologist, researcher, and student of energy, mind, and consciousness; and finally, her own intuitive development.

Coming from a family of physicians (father, brothers, aunts and uncles, and daughter, Rebecca), Susan’s intent is to heal (emotionally, mentally, physically, and spiritually), but at the level of the soul—and always with love and compassion. Focusing on the many blessings each of us has, she guides her patients to the recognition that we are here to live life in joy and peace (to be happy) and that the resources for this are within each of us. “Intention is everything,” she often tells her patients. “With love, clear intent and choice, transformation, healing, and very often, spiritual awakening, become our reality. And when this occurs, everything feels wonderful.”

Among Susan’s most treasured blessings are her husband, best friend, and partner, Warren, a practicing orthodontist in Langhorne, PA, whom she has known and loved for more than forty years, and her two grown children whom she respects, honors, and adores—David, a marketing consultant, and Rebecca, a third-year resident in emergency medicine. She has been in private practice in Yardley, PA, since 1991.
